

Pembangunan daerah , penggunaan dan hak atas tanah melalui pendekatan sosiologis

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=131940&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

One of the most important things in human life is land. It is sociologically as a step of human life and death. Therefore, it caused a number of problems deals with human interest. Concerning to development program especially in the space of local governance is always faced by land issues. One of the most current stuck out issue is land use for public interest. The land used for public interest through development program is always faced with land rights owned by public interest, government and local government need to carry out sociological approach as it is presented in this article.