There is a reason or consideration why a state implements a decentralized government system, including in form of regional autonomy. As it is known that the regional autonomy is one of the variant of decentralization principle, thus asymmetrical decentralization is one of the variant of the form of regional autonomy policy. Asymmetrical decentralization or asymmetrical autonomy is a form of delegation of special authority which is given to the certain region. Asymmetrical autonomy is different from the common autonomy, i.e. symmetrical autonomy. But don't forget that asymmetrical autonomy and symmetrical autonomy both are also autonomy. The difference between both of them is among others, can be seen by substance of regional. The substance of symmetrical autonomy is political autonomy (authority), administrative autonomy, fiscal autonomy which are commonly valid and the same in every region. The three substances of symmetrical autonomy are also contained in the asymmetrical autonomy, however, its format is different at the asymmetrical autonomy. For instance political and fiscal autonomy at symmetrical autonomy are bigger than at symmetrical autonomy. Besides that there is an addition of the substance of regional autonomy at the asymmetrical autonomy, for instance, autonomy in certain law, autonomy at culture field and so on. Actually, even there is difference in format and substance law, autonomy at culture field and so on. Actually, even there is difference in format and substance between asymmetrical autonomy in region with the asymmetrical autonomy in region with the asymmetrical autonomy in another region.
