Abstrak

The political realm according to the theory of Bertrand Russell is the human social interaction in power relation and in the two-side impulse, either to dominate or dominated. The ethics of politics should be the primary tool to connect the two-side impulse. Moreover, Indonesia, as one of the biggest democratic countries in the world, should have implemented the basic principles of the ethics of politics in the legal authorization of the power of the state as well as in the application of the separation of powers (Trias Politica)
