ABSTRACT

the thesis discusses the syariah banking supervision in Indonesia, the subject matter in this study is the supervision of syariah banking is based on legislation and law in Indonesia and the comparison of syariah banking supervision in Indonesia, Malaysia and Iran. The research method used is a normative legal research through a literature study. This study found that supervision of compliance to the principles of syariah banking prudential conducted by Bank Indonesia and oversight of Shariah principles in Islamic banking activities conducted by the Sharia supervisory board. Supervision of the syariah principle is inseparable from the role of the Nation Islamic Council of Indonesia Ulama Council issuing fatwas on islamic banking products and services.
