Abstrak

Tesis ini meneliti mengenai dinamika persenjataan Indonesia akibat peningkatan kapabilitas militer China. Teori yang digunakan adalah Balance of Threat oleh Stephen M Walt dan Model Action Reaction oleh Barry Buzan. Penelitian ini menggunakan metode penelitian kuantitatif dengan studi kepustakaan sebagai metode pengumpulan data.

Penelitian ini menemukan bahwa berdasarkan empat indikator Balance of Threat, China dapat dikategorikan sebagai ancaman bagi Indonesia. Penelitian ini juga mengungkapkan bahwa indeks perbandingan kekuatan China dan Indonesia terpaut sangat jauh, selain itu berdasarkan indikator model action reaction, Indonesia cenderung melakukan Arms Reduction.

This thesis researches about Indonesia's arms dynamic in reaction of China's increasing military capability. Balance of Threat by Stephen M. Waltz and Action Reaction Model by Barry Buzan are the theories used in this research. This thesis uses a quantitative research method as means of collecting data. This research concludes that from the four indicators of the Balance of Threat theory, China is categorized as a threat for Indonesia. This research also reveals that the power comparative index between Indonesia and China is very large . Also based on the indicator from the action reaction model, Indonesia is moving towards an Arms Reduction process.
