

Implementasi kebijakan penolakan masuk orang asing dalam perspektif ketahanan nasional = Implementation of entry denied policy for foreigner in national resilience perspective

Nyoman Asta Brata, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20389594&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

[ABSTRAK

Penelitian ini berfokus pada implementasi kebijakan penolakan masuk orang asing yang terjadi di Tempat Pemeriksaan Imigrasi Soekarno Hatta. Dalam penelitian ini akan menggambarkan implementasi kebijakan yang telah berjalan dan menemukan kendala-kendala yang menyebabkan implementasi belum berhasil dengan baik. Implementasi kebijakan ini kemudian dipandang dari aspek ketahanan nasional. Penelitian ini adalah penelitian kualitatif dengan desain deskriptif. Metode yang digunakan adalah dengan pengamatan langsung di lapangan, wawancara dan studi kepustakaan. Teori yang digunakan untuk menganalisis adalah teori George C. Edward III yang menganalisis implementasi kebijakan berdasarkan aspek komunikasi, aspek sumber daya, aspek disposisi dan aspek struktur birokrasi. Teori yang dijadikan analisis perspektif ketahanan nasional yaitu aspek kesejahteraan dan aspek keamanan. Dari hasil penelitian, dapat disimpulkan bahwa : komunikasi dalam implementasi sudah berjalan cukup baik; sumber daya dalam implementasi masih belum berjalan baik masih ditemukan kendala atau kekurangan; disposisi dalam implementasi sudah berjalan cukup baik; dan struktur birokrasi dalam implementasi juga belum berhasil dengan baik. Hasil kesimpulan berikutnya bahwa aspek ketahanan nasional mempengaruhi setiap penolakan yang dilaksanakan.

<hr>

ABSTRACT

This study focuses on the implementation of entry denied policy for foreigner that occurred at Immigration Checkpoint Soekarno Hatta Airport. In this study will describe the implementation of policies that have been run and find the constraints that lead to implementation have not been successful. Implementation of this policy is then seen from the aspect of national resilience. This study is a descriptive qualitative research design. The method used is by direct observation, interviews and literature study. The theory is used to analyze the theory of George C. Edward III who analyze policy implementation based on the communication aspects, resource aspects, aspects of the disposition, and aspects of the bureaucratic structure. The theory is used as analytical national resilience perspective are prosperity aspects and security aspects. From the results, it can be concluded that: communication in the implementation has been running enough well; resources in the implementation is still not running good still found problems or deficiencies; disposition of the implementation has been going enough well; and bureaucratic structures in the implementation has not worked well. The results of subsequent conclusion that aspect of national resilience affects every implemented refusal.;This study focuses on the implementation of entry denied policy for foreigner that occurred at Immigration Checkpoint Soekarno Hatta Airport. In this study will describe the implementation of policies that have been run and find the constraints that lead to implementation have not been successful. Implementation of this policy is then seen from the aspect of national resilience. This study is a descriptive qualitative research design. The method used is by direct observation, interviews and literature study. The theory is used to analyze the theory of George C. Edward III who analyze policy implementation based on the communication aspects, resource aspects, aspects of the disposition, and aspects of the bureaucratic structure. The theory is used as analytical national resilience perspective are prosperity aspects and security aspects. From the results, it can be concluded that: communication in the implementation has been running enough well; resources in the implementation is still not running good still found problems or deficiencies; disposition of the implementation has been going enough well; and bureaucratic structures in the implementation has not worked well. The results of subsequent conclusion that aspect of national resilience affects every implemented refusal., This study focuses on the implementation of entry denied policy for foreigner that occurred at Immigration Checkpoint Soekarno Hatta Airport. In this study will describe the implementation of policies that have been run and find the constraints that lead to implementation have not been successful. Implementation of this policy is then seen from the aspect of national resilience. This study is a descriptive qualitative research design. The method used is by direct observation, interviews and literature study. The theory is used to analyze the theory of George C. Edward III who analyze policy implementation based on the communication aspects, resource aspects, aspects of the disposition, and aspects of the bureaucratic structure. The theory is used as analytical national resilience perspective are prosperity aspects and security aspects. From the results, it can be concluded that: communication in the implementation has been running enough well; resources in the implementation is still not running good still found problems or deficiencies; disposition of the implementation has been going enough well; and bureaucratic structures in the implementation has not worked well. The results of subsequent conclusion that aspect of national resilience affects every implemented refusal.]