

Dampak kebijakan trust building process Korea Selatan dan kebijakan denuklirisasi Amerika Serikat serta Tiongkok terhadap Korea Utara pada identitas kolektif Korea Selatan = The impact of South Korea s trust building process policy the u s and China s denuclearization policy toward North Korea on South Korea collective identity

Maulana Putra, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20389918&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

[ABSTRAK

Penelitian ini berfokus pada dampak kebijakan luar negeri terhadap identitas kolektif suatu negara dengan menggunakan disain penelitian studi kasus dimana kasus yang digunakan adalah hubungan internasional di Semenanjung Korea. Analisis dilakukan melalui dua tahap: (1) analisis pada kebijakan luar negeri yang berfokus pada hasil kebijakan luar negeri, (2) analisis yang menjelaskan hasil kebijakan luar negeri pada empat aspek identitas kolektif: ketergantungan, kesenasiban, keseragaman, dan ketahanan diri. Kesimpulan dari penelitian ini adalah kebijakan Trust Building Process Korea Selatan dan kebijakan denuklirisasi Amerika Serikat serta Tiongkok terhadap Korea Utara mempunyai pengaruh pada identitas kolektif Korea Selatan;

<hr>

ABSTRACT

This study focuses on the impact of foreign policies toward a state?s collective identity. The study was conducted by implementing a case study design which used international relation in Korea peninsula as the main case. The data of the study was analyzed in two phases: first, analysis focused on the outcomes of South Korea?s, China?s, and the U.S.? foreign policies and, second, analysis on the results of the foreign policies in four aspects of collective identity, which are interdependence, common fate, homogeneity, and self-restrain. Eventually, the study concludes that South Korea?s Trust Building Process policy, as well as the U.S.? and China?s denuclearization policy toward North Korea had an influence on South Korea?s collective identity;This study focuses on the impact of foreign policies toward a state?s collective identity. The study was conducted by implementing a case study design which used international relation in Korea peninsula as the main case. The data of the study was analyzed in two phases: first, analysis focused on the outcomes of South Korea?s, China?s, and the U.S.? foreign policies and, second, analysis on the results of the foreign policies in four aspects of collective identity, which are interdependence, common fate, homogeneity, and self-restrain. Eventually, the study concludes that South Korea?s Trust Building Process policy, as well as the U.S.? and China?s denuclearization policy toward North Korea had an influence on South Korea's collective identity; This study focuses on the impact of foreign policies toward a state's collective identity. The study was conducted by implementing a case study design which used international relation in Korea peninsula as the main case. The data of the study was analyzed in two phases: first, analysis focused on the outcomes of South Korea's, China's, and the U.S.' foreign policies and, second, analysis on the results of the foreign policies in four aspects of collective identity, which are interdependence, common fate, homogeneity, and self-restrain. Eventually, the study concludes that South Korea's Trust Building Process policy, as well as the U.S.' and China's denuclearization policy toward North Korea had an influence on South Korea's collective identity, This study focuses on the impact of foreign policies toward a state's collective identity. The study was conducted by implementing a case study design which used international relation in Korea peninsula as the main case. The data of the study was analyzed in two phases: first, analysis focused on the outcomes of South Korea's, China's, and the U.S.' foreign policies and, second, analysis on the results of the foreign policies in four aspects of collective identity, which are interdependence, common fate, homogeneity, and self-restrain. Eventually, the study concludes that South Korea's Trust Building Process policy, as well as the U.S.' and China's denuclearization policy toward North Korea had an influence on South Korea's collective identity]