

Hubungan tingkat kemandirian keluarga dalam pencegahan penyimpangan perilaku seksual remaja dengan kejadian kehamilan remaja = The relationships between the level of family independence and the prevention of adolescent sexual misbehavior with the incidence of teenage pregnancy

Eva Nurlina Aprilia, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20390039&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

[ABSTRAK

Penyimpangan perilaku seksual remaja menimbulkan kehamilan remaja meningkat. Penelitian bertujuan mendapatkan gambaran hubungan tingkat kemandirian keluarga dalam pencegahan penyimpangan perilaku seksual remaja dengan kejadian kehamilan remaja. Desain penelitian descriptive correlational secara cross sectional. Responden 185 keluarga dengan anak remaja perempuan. menggunakan probability sampling. Hasil menunjukkan terdapat hubungan tingkat kemandirian keluarga memberikan kebebasan seimbang dan bertanggung jawab serta memelihara komunikasi terbuka dalam pencegahan penyimpangan perilaku seksual remaja dengan kejadian kehamilan remaja. Penelitian merekomendasikan perlu kebebasan seimbang dan bertanggungjawab serta komunikasi terbuka dalam keluarga untuk mencegah penyimpangan perilaku seksual remaja yang berdampak kehamilan remaja;

<hr>

ABSTRACT

The problem of sexual misbehavior has led to the increase in unwanted teenage pregnancy. This study aimed to the description of the relationships between the level of family independence and the prevention of adolescent sexual misbehavior with the incident of teenage pregnancy. The study cross sectional descriptive correlational design. A number of 185 families who have female teenager were involved in the study. The respondents were selected through probability sampling technique. The results of this study indicate that there is a relationships between the level of independence of the family in the prevention of adolescent sexual misbehavior with the incidence of teenage pregnancy. This study recommends the need for a balanced and responsible freedom and open communication within the family to prevent deviation adolescent sexual behavior that could impact on teenage pregnancy. The problem of sexual misbehavior has led to the increase in unwanted teenage pregnancy. This study aimed to the description of the relationships between the level of family independence and the prevention of adolescent sexual misbehavior with the incident of teenage pregnancy. The study cross sectional descriptive correlational design. A number of 185 families who have female teenager were involved in the study. The respondents were selected through probability sampling technique. The results of this study indicate that there is a relationships between the level of independence of the family in the prevention of adolescent sexual misbehavior with the incidence of teenage pregnancy. This study recommends the need for a balanced and responsible freedom and open communication within the family to prevent deviation adolescent sexual behavior that could impact on teenage pregnancy. The problem of sexual misbehavior has led to the increase in unwanted teenage pregnancy. This study aimed to the description of the relationships between the level of family independence and the prevention of adolescent sexual misbehavior with the incident of teenage pregnancy. The study cross sectional descriptive correlational design. A number of 185 families who have female teenager were involved in the study. The respondents were selected through probability sampling technique. The results of this study indicate that there is a relationships between the level of independence of the family in the prevention of adolescent sexual misbehavior with the incidence of teenage pregnancy. This study recommends the need for a balanced and responsible freedom and open communication within the family to prevent deviation adolescent sexual behavior that could impact on teenage pregnancy. The problem of sexual misbehavior has led to the increase in unwanted teenage pregnancy. This study aimed to the description of the relationships between the level of family independence and the prevention of adolescent sexual misbehavior with the incident of teenage pregnancy. The study cross sectional descriptive correlational design. A number of 185 families who have female teenager were involved in the study. The respondents were selected through probability sampling technique. The results of this study indicate that there is a relationships between the level of independence of the family in the prevention of adolescent sexual misbehavior with the incidence of teenage pregnancy. This study recommends the need for a balanced and responsible freedom and open communication within the family to prevent deviation adolescent sexual behavior that could impact on teenage pregnancy.]