[ABSTRAK]

Disertasi ini bertujuan untuk menggambarkan pembangunan sosial sektor informal perkotaan terutama pedagang kaki lima di Pasar Minggu DKI Jakarta. Serta menjelaskan konsep pembangunan sosial berdasarkan struktur kultur dan proses dalam mewujudkan masyarakat PKL yang inklusif. Hasil penelitian ini menunjukkan bahwa penataan dan relokasi PKL di Pasar Minggu DKI Jakarta berdasarkan konsep pembangunan sosial belum mencapai tahapan ideal masih dalam tahapan proses menuju pembangunan yang inklusif. Pembangunan struktur yang meliputi struktural setting dan struktural instrument dalam pembangunan PKL belum dapat diwujudkan dalam bentuk kebijakan kongkrit untuk peningkatan kualitas hidup PKL. Pembangunan kultur sosial menunjukkan hasil yang cukup baik dengan mengacu pada misi Jakarta sebagai "Masyarakat yang berkebudayaan" yaitu dengan adanya perubahan perilaku satpol PP dan aparatur pemerintahan yang lebih sopan dan persuasif. Pembangunan proses sosial melalui interaksi komunikasi yang dibangun antara pemerintah DKI Jakarta, UPB Pasar Minggu, dan PKL belum terjalin secara maksimal. Dengan adanya proses sosial yang maksimal akan melahirkan internalisasi budaya dan institusionalisasi kebijakan dalam rangka mewujudkan pembangunan yang inklusif dan menuju kualitas hidup PKL yang lebih baik. Konsep pembangunan sosial idealnya dilakukan dalam bentuk kualitatif namun pada penelitian ini menggunakan metode kuantitatif untuk memberikan model baru dalam penggunaan metodologi. Dengan menggunakan metode penelitian kualitatif dan kuantitatif penelitian ini berusaha untuk memudahkan membuat tingkatan pembangunan sosial PKL di Pasar Minggu DKI Jakarta serta dapat memahami makna dalam realitas PKL ;

ABSTRACT

This dissertation aims to describe the social development of urban informal sector particularly street vendors PKL at the Pasar Minggu Jakarta and to explain the concept of social development based on the structure culture and the process in creating an inclusive street vendor society. The finding of this research shows that the maintenance and relocation of the street vendors in the Pasar Minggu Jakarta based on the concept of social development has not achieved an ideal stage. It is still in the process towards an inclusive development. Structural development that consists of the structural setting and the structural instrument in developing the street vendors cannot be implemented yet in a concrete policy that is able to improve the life quality of the street vendors. The development of social culture shows a quite good result which refers to the Jakarta mission as "civilized society" which is indicated by changing attitude of satpol PP and other government apparatus that are more polite and persuasive. The development of social process through interaction and communication which is established between the government of the DKI Jakarta, the UPB Pasar Minggu and the street vendors has not been built significantly. A significant social process will generate an internalisation of culture and an institutionalisation of policy that helps in creating an inclusive development and a better life quality of the street vendors The concept of social development is ideally conducted in a qualitative form However this research uses quantitative method in order to contribute a new model in the application of methodology Through both qualitative and quantitative methods this research attempts to simplify in making the stages of social development of the vendors in the Pasar Minggu Jakarta and to understand meanings in real life of the street vendors , This dissertation aims to describe the social development of urban informal sector particularly street vendors PKL at the Pasar Minggu Jakarta and to explain the concept of social development based on the structure culture and the process in creating an inclusive street vendor society The finding of this research shows that the maintenance and relocation of the street svendors in the Pasar Minggu Jakarta based on the concept of social development has not achieved an ideal stage It is still in the process towards an inclusive development Structural development that consists of the structural setting and the structural instrument in developing the street vendors cannot be implemented yet in a concrete policy that is able to improve the life quality of the street vendors The development of social culture shows a quite good result which refers to the Jakarta mission as ldquo civilized society rdquo which is indicated by changing attitude of satpol PP and other government apparatus that are more polite and persuasive The development of social process through interaction and communication which is established between the government of the DKI Jakarta the UPB Pasar Minggu and the street vendors has not been built significantly A significant social process will generate an internalisation of culture and an institutionalisation of policy that helps in creating an inclusive development and a better life quality of the street vendors The concept of social development is ideally conducted in a qualitative form However this research uses quantitative method in order to contribute a new model in the application of methodology Through both qualitative and quantitative methods this research attempts to simplify in making the stages of social development of the vendors in the Pasar Minggu Jakarta and to understand meanings in real life of the street vendors]
