Implementasi konsep frbr pada portal austlit

Muhammad Rosyihan Hendrawan, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20406588&lokasi=lokal

----

Abstrak

This article aims to explain the capabilities and benefits AustLit portals that have implemented FRBR (Functional requirements Bibliographic Records), FRBR is one of basic concepts in the RDA (Resource Description and Access). AustLit developed to allow the scholars especially in Literature at Australia to be able to generate, store, reuse, and present research results Australians literary heritage than as a reference to the process of learning and teaching. AustLit portal is enable people to share bibliographies heterogeneous sources and regardless of their location, media type, or metadata format. In addition, the scope and structure of the knowledge inherent in the existing format would greatly facilitate further discovery activities, share, reuse and extension of a work. Dynamic mapping mechanism has been developed AustLit possible alternative view multiple digital objects to be customized and provided with various facilities.