Abstrak

AFTA is basically a good thing for Indonesia considering Indonesia has a huge potential when compared to other Countries Country in ASEAN. It can be seeded by Indonesia is that Indonesia has a very human resource overflow. When AFTA goes into effect so we can imagine how many labor from Indonesia who can work in other countries. The enermous potential possessed by Indonesia has not been put to good use. We have the human resources very much, but not the educated and well-trained labor. So are the potential in the field of tourism has yet to be developed because it is still constrained in the fields of infrastructure and facilities. Similarly, the agricultural sector is not well developed, it is visible from a few ingredients must import them basic necessities in the field of agriculture to other countries. Indonesia must think back to propose postponement of the implementation of the AFTA, because if not, then no advantage to be gained by Indonesia but losses. A delay was possible if other countries also agree to the delay. Therefore it is necessary a good lobbying so that the other countries agree to do the delays.
