

Annotated bibliography on geographic information systems applications in developing countries

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20408295&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

GIS are needed to assist national development because it can manipulate and analyze geographical-referenced data to support the decision making process of an organization. A problem faced in developing countries is that decision making is not always based on integrated information.