Abstrak

The village drug post is one of health efforts based on community resources. This means that there are education process, transfer of technologies, and train the skills on drugs, and simple therapy for common diseases. This research is aim to enhance the community ability to self-help in health that are safe and right. The results show that there were village drug post in two villages selected. There were cadre training to enhance the community knowledge on drug, simple treatment efforts on mild diseases, and enhance community skills to know symptoms. The procurement of drugs in village drug post are not just from big pharmacy factories directed by government but for efficiency and effective, this could be from the drug stores with license because of the cheaper price and faster and shorter procurements.
