Abstrak

The life of the Indonesian community that was plural and heterogeneous could cause and have an impact the view emergence that was positive or the negative towards that. The plurality and heterogeneity preferably should be not seen as two different poles but preferably that was responded to with the wise attitude. The phenomenon of Indonesia culture that was bipolar could be responded to with the human attitude through the studying process in understanding multiculturalism and education for the younger generation. Through multiculturalism and ethics consciousness, the person could learn to minimise the conflict that happened in Indonesia.
