The information about immediate denture treatment should be given clearly to the patient. The patient needs to understand about the treatment's aspects in order to give acceptance and agreement toward the treatment. This case represents 41 years old woman with protrusive upper and lower anterior teeth which makes the patient feel inconfident toward her performance. The immediate partial denture was prepared with interseptal alveolectomy on upper and lower jaws. The extraction procedure was planned toward 13, 12, 11, 21, 22, 23, and 32, 31, 41, 42. The patient refused 13 and 23 extraction based on psychological consideration. The operator approached the patient by re-explaining the treatment procedure and its purposed and they came up with a solution that the extraction would be splitted in two phases. This compromies resulted in satisfying final treatment's result. Patient was satisfied by the dentures and her overall performance since the esthetic problem have been solved.
