

Online community information: creating a nexus at your library

Durrance, Joan C., author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20436264&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

Librarians are key players in bringing communities together. With the help of the Internet, they are in a position to revolutionize the way users access information and come together as a result. Indeed, libraries can function as both hubs to circulate local, national, and global information and as networks of local agencies, nonprofits, community activities, resources, events, and contacts.