<hr> ABSTRACT

In increasing of crime and narcotic abuse, there is also an increasing in prisoner of narcotics case. To stand attention in this case, it is needed to establish Correctional Institution for Narcotics case. It is because handling prisoners or narcotics' prisoners need different handling and building than other cases' prisoners.

Narcotics Correctional Institution Jakarta is developed either to perform building toward narcotics prisoners or to disconnect narcotics distribution chain, which is more increase nowadays. It is also meant to anticipate distribution and abuse of narcotics in prisoner circles as the kind of violation about security and orderliness.

Violation of security and orderliness is meant beside distribution or abuse of narcotics in prisoners' circle, it is also in the kind of the use of prohibited material, which can disturb security and orderliness, as well as the use of other communication tools, of course, including escape. In this research, it is tried to give explanation about how security system implementation in Narcotics Correctional Institution Jakarta in order to prevent and handle violation of security and orderliness, either escape, narcotics abuse, prohibited material abuse, and other related to condition of facilities, infrastructures, security, security employee, and general conditions in Narcotics Correctional Institution Jakarta, as well as obstacles faced concerning those matters.

Therefore in order to know the effectiveness of the security system existed in Narcotics Correctional Institution Jakarta, the writer tried to analyze it by using 16 techniques of criminal acts opportunity prevention by using situational approach by Ronald V. Clarke and from the results of research indicate that there is security and orderliness disturbance in Narcotics Correctional Institution Jakarta, in which escape, narcotics abuse in prisoner circle, the ownership and use of communication tools like mobile phone and laptop, as well as the ownership of other prohibited materials. These indicate that there are deviations performed by employee and careless employee in performing their security duty as well as available security systems and facilities not run effectively at Narcotics Correctional Institution Jakarta.
