ABSTRACT

Kokoleceran (Vatica bantamensis) is the floral emblem of Banten, but its existence is worrying because (1)

its has been endangered, (2) in natural habitat although still exist but low population, (3) collection at Bogor Botanical Garden is getting old and difficult to bear fruit, (4) propagation has not been successful, and (5) despite reintroduction but not yet monitored. If this condition is left then it will be more worrisome. We will be sorry if the used plant it becomes extinct. May many people care and immediately take meaningful action to save V. bantamensis from extinction.
