

Nilai moral pada novel bukan pasar malam karya pramoedyana anta toer / Evizariza

Evizariza, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20479552&lokasi=lokal>

Abstrak

ABSTRACT

This study aims to examine the moral values in the novel Night Market No, works of Pramoedya Anantatoer. Specifically, this study aims to find out: the moral value of humanity in the novel Night Market is not the work of Pramoedya Anantatoer.

The results of this study are No Night Market, Pramoedya suggests that the economy is a force that drives the lives of the people. Economic power allows them to care for and help each other, like a father experience. My father believed that menguasakannya economy to be strong in suffering. Without money, life will be harder for him. If he does not have money, he will not get medical treatment in the sanatorium. Through this novel, Pramoedya authorize him self and natives, and support them in their struggle against the pressure and struggled to get the value of humanity, that is very impressive about the natives in this novel is courage and their spirit to fight, not only for their moral values but also to award and their dignity.