Abstrak

"When it comes to learning and fun for children age 6 to 12, this is the authoritative guide to making it happen! Fine arts, language arts, math, physical activities - without the need for extensive resources. Even programs with little time, money, space, and materials can easily implement these activities in any setting. Activities include modifications for younger and older children, and offer extensions that suggest variations of the given project. This is the resource that combines fun and academics for amazing results." - Back cover.
