Abstrak

Fraud merupakan fenomena yang sangat merugikan banyak pihak. Penelitian sebelumnya telah menemukan hubungan antara keterikatan orangtua-anak dan perselingkuhan. Akan tetapi, sebagai faktor eksternal, keterikatan orang tua-anak tidak cukup menjelaskan mengapa ada hubungan antara kedua variabel tersebut. Identitas moral karena posisinya sebagai faktor internal diduga berperan dalam memediasi hubungan kedua variabel tersebut. Penelitian ini memiliki dua tujuan, (1) apakah keterikatan orang tua-anak mempengaruhi identitas moral dan (2) apakah identitas moral memediasi pengaruh keterikatan orang tua-anak terhadap kecurangan. Penelitian yang dilakukan pada 213 siswa di Jabodetabek ini menunjukkan pengaruh keterikatan orang tua-anak terhadap identitas moral. Namun, tidak ditemukan adanya peran mediasi yang signifikan dari identitas moral dalam pengaruh keterikatan orangtua-anak terhadap perselingkuhan. Diskusi dan saran akan dibahas.

..... Fraud is a phenomenon that is very detrimental to many parties. Previous research has found a link between parent-child attachment and infidelity. However, as an external factor, parent-child attachment does not adequately explain why there is a relationship between the two variables. Moral identity due to its position as an internal factor is thought to play a role in mediating the relationship between the two variables. This study has two objectives, (1) whether parent-child attachment affects moral identity and (2) whether moral identity mediates the effect of parent-child attachment on cheating. This study, which was conducted on 213 students in Jabodetabek, shows the effect of parent-child attachment on moral identity. However, it was not found that there was a significant mediating role of moral identity in the influence of parent-child attachment to infidelity. Discussions and suggestions will be discussed.
