

"Voice" and "language" of Japanese-speaking literature: Tami Sakiyama and Park Kyong Mi's dialogue

Izumi Sato, author

Deskripsi Lengkap: <https://lib.ui.ac.id/detail?id=20497109&lokasi=lokal>

---

Abstrak

ABSTRACT

This paper considers two Japanese-speaking authors from the linguistic view. Park Kyong Mi places "translation" at the core of poetic experience, and senses the inner gap of language.

Sakiyama Tami, a Novelist in Okinawa, tries to put a voice inside the language through conflict between Japanese as a literary language and everyday language.